Serious Blunders

To the Editor of the Courant:

It was our lack of foresight that forced England and France to retreat from the Suez Canal and Israel from Egypt. Foresight is a characteristic that Americans lack, even though we have a superior intelligence agency called CIA.

Next to the Yalta fiasco, history will prove this one of the great mistakes of our time. Today, because of it, the Marines are in Lebanon. Goodness only knows where Americans troops will be sent to eradicate some serious condition. Wake up, State Department! We cannot afford any more of these serious blunders, and still remain a free nation.
